About Castelfranco

Available: Year Round

Also known as: the Edible Rose

Characteristics: Castelfranco is a yellow variegated variety with red speckles and has a mild flavor compared to other Radicchios. Its semi bitter flavor is often enjoyed raw and is ideal for eating fresh.

Use it for a splash of color and add its soft, buttery leaves to any salad or pasta dish. Pairs well with wines like Pinot Gris and Sauvignon Blanc.

Preparation Suggestions

Always rinse your produce under cool water before using. Castelfranco can be eaten raw by breaking apart or slicing the leaves, or cooked/sauteed in pasta dishes.

Storage/Shelf-Life

Refrigerate in a crisper or in a sealed plastic bag to ensure it lasts up to a week.
